Personal Profile

0773616117

Keen, driven individual in the path of becoming the best developer I can be. Very much capable in both the Front and Back end. Primarily focused on the Javascript web stack with node js and react .Writing documentation and maintaining tests are somewhere I believe I can be immediately effective. Given some short time and a good enough understanding of the workflow I will be a definite value addition. I offer persistent attention to detail and a willingness to get the job done. My long term goal is to become tech lead and possibly explore managerial options.

Interests

Programming : I enjoy building small scale web projects. Solving the many minor problems that arise one step at a time really brings me joy.

Boxing : I love to train everyday as it helps me stay relaxed and energetic

Compeering and Pitching : I have conducted many events in college including the ICT day. I am also very much interested in the business side of startups and have pitched products to investors at a few hackathons.
